Performance enhancement for 1st time page loads

Your first web visitor of the day may have previously experienced long page loads due to the application compiling all of the templates in order to cache them.

A new performance enhancement now means the previously cached page is loaded - quickly - improving site speed and customer experience.