Fix for % discount promos

The promo scenario "When I buy X quantity of specific products then I get a Y% discount on those products" grants users a discount on products if they meet the minimum quantity requirement. However, sometimes orders that met the qty threshold but had eligible products spread out over multiple lines didn't permit the promo code to be applied. This issue has now been fixed.