Free Product Promo display fix

For Free Product promotions, it appeared that the promo was successfully applied without the user having to meet the minimum Quantity purchase requirement. In reality, the free product was not added until the requirement was met, but the cart display was confusing to the end user. This has now been fixed with updated messaging.